New and Miscellaneous Business

Annual Picnic—Tania

Members should RSVP to Scott Schlegel their attendance plans and what items they plan to bring to this potluck.

Policies and Procedures (P&P) Revision—Bill Hanks

As background, Bill has chaired a special committee of three past presidents—himself, John Fee, and John Jennison—that over the past two years has drafted revisions to the Federation's Policies and Procedures document, last updated in 2003. Sitting presidents—Jeff Parnes and Tania Hossain—also participated in committee deliberations.

Bill chaired this portion of the meeting during which the board reviewed the document page by page. Board approved changes included:

- Adding supplements on web site administration and on the Citizen of the Year award and banquet.
- Adding a description of core duties for each of the ten standing committees.
- Restoring a grace period from July-December during which associations that are late in renewing membership may still exercise voting rights.
- Extending the period of initial membership for new members who pay dues during the January-June period to the end of June in the following year.

A "near-final revision" of the 2011 edition of Policies & Procedures will be emailed to board members prior to the May 26th Board Meeting.

The board commended the committee for its excellent work in writing the revised policies and procedures.

Board & Committee Reports

Education—Leonard Bumbaca, Ed Saperstein, & Tim Thompson (Charlie Dane reported.)

Ed Saperstein is drafting testimony to be given to the school board on the budget, with four main recommendations:

- Compensation—a single amount monetary award to all employees that would be added to base salaries
- Full-Day Kindergarten—implement full-day kindergarten in all schools in 2011-12, even if funds must be diverted from other programs
- Class size—seek innovative ways to continue small class size electives, e.g., by adding more online instruction and college-style lecture hall-size classes for some highly enrolled high school subjects
- Discipline—support review of discipline procedures, seeking flexibility, common sense, and safety.

The board unanimously approved the proposed testimony to be identified by the Education Committee representative as board-approved positions.

On May 3-4, the school board will hold meetings with stakeholders. Charlie will participate on May 3 with these points to make. On budget, pursue the compensation and full-day kindergarten positions addressed above. On future issues, seek cost effective ways to learn foreign languages, seek to mitigate unforeseen consequences of implementing more rigorous standardized testing (for example, calibrate test scores to be equivalent between old and new tests), and review teacher workloads.

Environment—Roger Diedrich and Flint Webb

The Fairfax Committee of 100 meeting topic on April 21 was Cleaning Up the Chesapeake Bay—Do We Really Mean It This Time?, presented by Randy Bartlett, Deputy Director of Public Works and Environmental Services, Fairfax County. Mr. Bartlett explained what new regulations mean for Fairfax County; he considers the challenge daunting and expects the standards to continue to evolve. Mr. Bartlett pointed out that the 1 ½ penny (county tax per $100 residential real estate assessment) for storm water will not be close to sufficient to meet the Total Maximum Daily Load (TMDL) limits required for the Chesapeake Bay, let alone managing the county's storm water infrastructure.

There are a number of bills in Congress dealing with environmental issues including a bill (HR 910) that would tie EPA's hands for regulating greenhouse gasses (GHGs), which would not only limit EPA's ability to control GHGs but also ozone depleting chemicals and other pollutants such as soot which also are also GHGs as well as having other environmental impacts. For the latest information on global warming see James Hansen's web site:

Transportation—Carey Campbell, Roger Hoskins, and Jeff Parnes

Jeff introduced a draft letter to be sent to the Northern Virginia Transportation Authority (NVTA) on the Transaction 2040 plan. The Federation proposes additional funding to ensure sufficiently analysis and public input regarding long-range transportation plans before funds are committed to projects. The board unanimously approved the letter.

District Council Reports

Braddock—Art Wells (Because the review of the policies and procedures document was the focal point of the meeting, the Braddock report was not given verbally; rather it is reported by inclusion in these minutes.)

The council held its annual "Legislative Forum" on April 13. Participants included two supervisors, two members each from the Virginia Senate and House of Delegates, two candidates for Braddock District Supervisor and school board.

The George Mason University—Braddock District Forum will next meet on May 4, at 7:30 p.m. at the Sherwood Community Center on Old Lee Highway. On the agenda: updates on GMU's "Good Neighbor Program" and the GMU Western Bypass, a program in the Commonwealth's Six-Year Transportation Program with $15 million assured for the project.

Sully—Jeff Parnes

The boards of the Western Fairfax County Citizens Association and the Sully District Council of Citizens Associations will meet in May to discuss plans to merge the organizations effective January 2012.

Adjournment—The meeting adjourned at 11:40 p.m.

Next Meetings

The next membership meeting will be May 19, the Federation's Annual Meeting (and Election of Officers) with the program featuring a "Report from Richmond" identifying major actions of the recently concluded
